Questions:

- 1) On the attached copy of the lobby floor plan that was provided in the packet, we have two questions. - 2) Marked in red at the center computer stations, is that a column? They are not columns, they are computer monitors.
- 3) The power access for the reception, is that going to be accessed from the wall, floor core or should we include a power pole in our specifications? There will be no power poles, all power will be fed from the wall or floor core.
- 4) The power access for the computer stations in the middle of the room, is that going to be accessed from a floor core or should we include a power pole in our specifications? There will be no power poles, all power will be fed from the wall or floor core.

In Appendix A under other items is states "All seating and end tables are existing and should not be included in the proposal.", but only the waiting area seating is labeled as "Existing-Out of Scope". Seating and end tables are out of scope.
